CREATING THE “Works Cited” PAGE in Microsoft Word (Different versions will have slightly different graphics)

1. Your citations should be at the end of your paper. In order to make a new page for your citations:
   Hold down the “Ctrl” key, and hit “enter”

2. Citations should be double-spaced. If you haven’t done this already in your document:
   a. Go to the “Home” tab (top left of your screen)
   b. In the “Styles” box, right-click on “Normal”
   c. Click on “Modify”
   d. Under “Formatting,” click on the icon for double space
   e. Click “O.K.”

3. Next, you will need to type the title of the page.
   a. In the “Home” tab go to “Paragraph.” Choose the “center” icon
   b. Type the words: Works Cited
   c. Hit “enter”
   d. Choose the “Align Left” icon (located to the left of the “Center” icon)
4. References are typed using a “hanging indent.” This means that the first line of each citation will begin at the left margin, but subsequent lines for that citation will automatically be indented (see the following page for an illustration). The easiest way to create this is to:
   a. Type all of your citations (remember to alphabetize). If your citation is longer than one line, do not hit the enter key to go to the next line – let the text “wrap” automatically.
   b. Block all of the citations (Go to the bottom of your citations list. Hold down the “shift” key and use the “up arrow” until all of your citations are highlighted.)
   c. On the “Page Layout” tab, click on the “Paragraph Dialog Box Launcher” (the arrow to the right of “Paragraph”)
   d. Click the “Indents and Spacing” tab
   e. In the “Special” list under “Indentation,” click on the down arrow and choose “Hanging”
   f. In the “By” box, click on “.5” (this may already be the default)
   g. Hit “O.K.”

DON’T FORGET: CITATIONS MUST BE ALPHABETIZED.
